

INSTRUCTIONS FOR COMPLETING NEW OR RENEWAL MEMBERSHIP APPLICATION

This form is split into 3 sections:

Section 1 must be completed in full by new and renewing applicants.

Section 2 must be completed by new applicants only.

Section 3 must be completed by new members only and is only viewed by the executive.

Disputes between Members or disputes with parties outside of the Membership are assessed using documented procedures. Breaches of membership requirements may lead to membership of the AAAC being suspended or terminated.

Refer to AAAC constitution for membership requirements.

Please type or print in block letters with a black pen.

Please add further sheets where space is insufficient.

Please forward completed Application Form via email to: secretary@aaac.org.au

The applicant is the division, practice or group of acoustic consultants either as a standalone firm or distinct division of a larger firm.

The relevant section of the application must be completed in full.

The AAAC executive may require additional information to clarify the application. If reasonable requests are not complied with the application will not be assessed.

OUR CODE OF PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT

If you have any questions about this code, please contact the Executive.

Introduction

An essential characteristic of a profession is the need for its members to abide by a Code of Professional Conduct or Ethics.

The AAAC requires its members to subscribe to the following set of values and ideals which uphold and advance their profession. This Code provides guidance and support to AAAC members to ensure that they practice with the highest ethical and professional standards in order to support the community they serve.

Members of the Association of Australasian Acoustical Consultants agree to the following:

Professional Standards

- To maintain the standards of business and personal conduct reasonably expected of a professional
- To act with professional responsibility and integrity in my dealings with the community and clients, employers, employees and students
- To provide professional opinions in an objective and truthful manner, avoiding statements that may be demeaning, misleading or unethical
- Not to misrepresent one's skills and experience
- To undertake work only in areas of competence, unless the client is informed of the member's limitations
- To maintain a proper sense of responsibility to the client, broader community, employees, the profession and the environment
- To treat other members of the AAAC with professional respect
- To refrain from public criticism of another member of AAAC

Confidentiality and Disclosure

- Agree not to disclose confidential client information without permission
- Not to disclose any financial matters relating to a client without permission or required by law
- Disclose any conflict of interest or potential conflict of interest prior to undertaking an assignment

Fair Competition

- When carrying out a review of another Member's work, take reasonable steps to inform the other Member that a review has been requested
- Prior to taking over another Member's work on a project, invite the client to notify that Member that their involvement has been discontinued
- AAAC members shall abide by the Competition and Consumers Acts by promoting fair and efficient competition for business and protection for consumers.

Professional Opinion and Competence

- Provide professional opinion and responsible comment on another's work when called to do so, exercising restraint in the review and confining the opinion to those points that are truly relevant and objectively important
- To take responsible steps to ensure that a client who overrules or neglects the Member's advice is made aware of the possible consequences
- To avoid being placed under an obligation to a third party in dealing with a client, and to refuse anything of substantial value from a third party
- Not knowingly omit from any finalised report any information that would materially alter the conclusion that could be drawn from the report
- Ensure that staff are qualified and competently trained to handle the assigned task
- Ensure that I take all reasonable steps to maintain my own professional development

SECTION 2 – NEW APPLICANTS ONLY

MEMBERSHIP ASSESSMENT PROCESS

The AAAC employs a rigorous membership assessment process to ensure new members fully comply with the objectives and requirements of the AAAC constitution. Information provided by the applicant and the existing members will be used to assess if new and renewing applicants will meet the requirements of the AAAC.

For clarity the objectives of the AAAC are:

- (a) To inform the public of the role and responsibilities of Acoustical Consultants and in particular the services which such consultants provide.
- (b) To establish and encourage adherence to standards of professional behaviour and conduct for acoustical consultants.
- (c) To provide members with a forum for exchange of information on matters relating to acoustics.
- (d) To cooperate and liaise with other Associations and bodies with respect to matters of mutual acoustical interest.
- (e) To inform and protect the community by discouraging, clarifying, negating or questioning unclear inaccurate or unproven representations of an acoustical nature.
- (f) To cooperate and liaise with authorities and associations having similar or analogous interests and in so doing, to contribute to the establishment, maintenance and application of standards, laws and registrations.
- (g) To encourage amongst the members of the association a high professional standard in all matters of practice including the calibration and use of instruments, measuring techniques and data processing employed by acoustical consultants.
- (h) To promote the welfare of acoustical consultants and the common interests of the members of the association and to do all such things as may be meaningful and lawful from time to time. The process for assessing applications and elevation to member (if approved) is:
  - i. The applicant for membership shall present the qualification held and particulars of relevant experience to the Association.
  - ii. The Executive Committee of the Association shall; if satisfied with the applicant's qualifications, experience and professional conduct; advise all members of the Association of the applicant's application. This would occur at either the Mid-Year meeting or Annual General Meeting, as such there are only two possible entry points within a given year. So that existing members can make an informed decision, a copy of the applicant's application shall be forwarded to such existing members as request a copy from the secretary.
  - iii. If within 30 calendar days of this advice no objection has been received from the Members of the Association, the applicant shall be deemed to be a Member of the Association within such category of membership as shall have been determined and subject to the payment of appropriate dues and joining fees.

- iv. Should there be an objection, the Chairman and one other member of the Executive Committee appointed by that Committee, shall hear the objector or a representative of Objectors to elicit the nature of the objection. The Chairman shall then advise the Executive Committee of the nature of the objection and that Committee shall reconsider the application. If the Committee is then satisfied with the applicant's qualifications, experience and professional conduct, then the applicant shall be deemed to be a Member of the Association within such category of membership as shall have been determined and subject to the payment of appropriate dues and joining fees.
- v. The Association reserves the right to give no reason for its decision.

The executive at its sole discretion may consider membership of an equivalent technical society to the Australian Acoustical Society or Acoustical Society of New Zealand as the basis for the Manager or Principal's qualifications. The applicant shall provide sufficient information for the Executive to make this determination.

The quality of reports and assessments in the public domain as produced by the applicant may be used in forming an opinion as to whether the applicant meets the objectives of the AAAC.

EXTRACT FROM THE AAAC CONSTITUTION – MEMBERSHIP CONDITIONS

5. Membership at Member grade may be granted to consultancies structured as:
  - (a) Sole Practitioners
  - (b) Partnerships
  - (c) Incorporated companies
  - (d) Separated and distinct groups or divisions of partnerships or companies
  - (e) Such other structure as is acceptable to the Association
6. Members shall conform to the following:
  - (a) The principals, partners and directors taking technical responsibility for each consultancy shall be a corporate Member of the Australian Acoustical Society or Acoustical Society of New Zealand. Each such person shall also satisfy the Association that they hold a recognised tertiary qualification in a discipline pertinent to acoustics and / or have the professional experience to practice acoustical consulting in the area of work undertaken by the consultancy.
  - (b) Each consultancy shall have demonstrated the ongoing economic and professional viability of the consultancy by having been in practice for the previous two years, except that when a consultancy divides and the principals of that consultancy become principals of separate consultancies, the need for a further two year waiting period may be waived at the discretion of the AAAC Executive Committee. Similarly, when a Member consultancy merges with another consultancy, or takes in another partner and the consultancy structure and name change; the two year viability establishment period may be waived at the discretion of the AAAC Executive Committee. Similarly, when a principal, partner or director taking technical responsibility for a Member firm leaves that Member, to either start a new branch office of the firm or to start a completely separate consultancy, the two year viability establishment period may be waived at the discretion of the AAAC Executive Committee.
  - (c) Full membership and separate representation may be granted to a branch office which has common or part common ownership by a AAAC Member consultancy, provided that it meets all the other conditions of ORDINARY MEMBERSHIP of this constitution; and further provided that only one vote may be recorded by that group of two or more consultancies when voting on Constitutional changes. Common or part-common ownership means that a Principal / Partner or shareholder of one consultancy is a Principal / Partner or shareholder of another consultancy.
  - (d) Where a Member consultancy has two or more divisions the name of each consulting division shall indicate that it is related to, or is a division or branch of the other consultancy or consultancies.
  - (e) No two members of the Association; as distinct from divisions of a Member, shall have names which are sufficiently alike as may result in confusion in the public's mind.
  - (f) Members shall conform to the CONTINUING MEMBERSHIP REQUIREMENTS of this constitution.
  - (g) The consultancy shall be based in Australia or New Zealand.
7. Membership (International) may be granted to an Acoustical Consultant resident or normally resident outside Australia or New Zealand and in other respects complying with the requirements of ORDINARY MEMBERSHIP.
